Additional notes;

Do you need a base stand or supporting structure for your bell? Over the years most of our bells have been installed into new or existing architecture or pre-built structures. In some cases customers have needed a stand-alone or fabricated support for the bells they have ordered. We can help; we have designed dozens of stands, custom brackets, supporting yokes, and custom structures for our bells. Some designs are very simple and inexpensive, some complex, we can provide you with many different free of charge drawings for stand-alone supporting structures and stands. Also, we can fabricate them for you or you can choose to fabricate these designs locally. Let us know what you need?

Each Traditional Bell is custom cast just for you. It takes about six weeks to manufacture a Traditional Bell.

Please call, write, or e-mail with any questions or specification you need for your Traditional Bell. Any order can be made over the phone, let us do the paperwork!

Thank you,
